The compact exterior disguises spacious interiors which include everything you will need for anything from a weekend break to an extended holiday. Clever use of space means the popular layouts found in larger and heavier caravans can feature in this four model range accommodating from two to six people in complete comfort.

As well as being supplied with all the facilities you would expect in a modern caravan, including fully equipped kitchens and washrooms, Orion also includes a number of luxuries, such as a microwave oven and a branded Radio/CD/MP3 player with stereo speakers, which are only normally found in more expensive models. In short you will be totally self-contained.

So if you've never considered a touring home before why not broaden your horizons by looking at the new Bailey Orion - a compact, affordable vehicle that will be all the caravan you will ever need.
